Dempsey has no one to blame for this but himself. As also stated yesterday, he has neglected training, has dissipated continuously, and was under the advice of physicians while his friends were circulating splendid flatteries of his "magnificent condition" and "old time form." These tales were printed by many newspapers, but "The Evening World," as usual, sought and obtained the facts and printed them, as it did in the case of Jack McAuliffe some months ago.

The battle was between man and shost, for it was but a sorry wraith of the former "Nonparell" that entered the ring in the Seaside Athletic Club last night. But once has the writer seen a man in the arena in anything like the condition of Dempsey last night, and that was in Madison Square Garden, when Sullivan had grace enough to ac-

It is peculiar that none of them has yet advanced the idea of relinquishing versal sentiment seems to prevail that die!" would be a dreary waste, indeed.

Some suggest signing certain stars from Boston. Philadelphia and other teams, yet there has been no intimation that the team could be improved by drawing upon Baltimore, the present pennant holders. Then too, there is an utter disregard of outlay in cash on the part of these followers of the game, their principle being, no doubt, that New York should have the best and is willing to pay for it.

However, these suggestions are extremely valuable as expressions from local patrons of the game and of the intense interest which baseball commands, now that the sport has been rejuvenated. Let every rooter contribute his little plan of personnel for a pennant-winding team. A batch from today's mail follows:

In my judgment the following team would land the pennant surely: Childs 20; Long. 86; McCartly, if, Duff., ct. Delehanty, rf. Davis, 20; Tuder, th. Zimmer, Farrell and Wilson, catheres; Rusie, Meckin, Young, Breitenstein and Westervelt, pitchers; Murphy, general utility man.

More than likely "Our Giants" will be composed of the following players: Pitchers, Ruste, Meekin, German, Westervelt and Clark; catchers, Farrell and Wilson; infielders, Doyle 1b., Stafford or some star of the Lesgue 2b. Davis 3b., Fuller st., outfielders, Hurke, Van Haltren and Tiernan; substitutes, Murphy and Bannon.

Mr. Jeroloman was at his desk at 10 o'clock He was asked how it felt to be Mayor, and replied that he would rather be in his own office with his books and papers than presiding as the city's chief executive.

"It is not in my line," he said, "and I don't even hope to marry anybody while I am here. I have a peculiar marriage form which prospective husbands don't like. I only ask the bride if she will obey her husband in everything that is right and reasonable."

There is nothing of suspicion about the programme offered at the Seasific Athletic Club for tenight. From the erratic Griffo has trained fatthfully for its bout with Dixon. Last night the Australian, though hossiful as ever, had more real grounds for his assertions, as he is an played Dirizzie. Whaley could not secure any more real grounds for his assertions, as he is and played Dirizzie. Whaley could not secure any more real grounds for his assertions, as he is to be regretted that Tommy Ryan had so little opportunity to show his real ability last and yesterday, had a fair jockey been riding, beingth. He was in superb condition and fit to would have been played.
